This report presents the findings of the 2022 Customer Satisfaction Survey of the LBP Resources and Development Corporation (LBRDC). In accordance with the guidelines of the Governance Commission for Government Owned or Controlled Corporation (GCG), LBRDC engaged the consulting services of Premier Value Provider, Inc. (PVP) to implement this survey.

The survey objectives are as follows:

- 1) to determine the overall customer satisfaction levels of Construction Customers, Manpower Outsourcing Customers, and Property Management Customers;
- 2) to determine the level of satisfaction in the specific facets of client experience; and
- 3) identify the drivers of customer satisfaction.

The GCG provided a very detailed description of the standard methodology for the conduct of the customer satisfaction survey. PVP adopted all the specifications and procedures as stated in the document.

A quantitative research design (correlational survey design) was used. Data was collected through phone interviews.

Respondents

Data was collected from a total of 14 respondents (13 Manpower Outsourcing Customers and 1 Property Management Customer). There were no respondents for Construction because for the two customers for this service, one did not agree to be interviewed and the other could not be reached with the contact details that was provided by LBRDC.

Data Collection

Data was collected through phone interviews from November 10, 2022 to January 5, 2023. This covers customer experience with LBRDC for the year 2022.

The following quality control procedures were conducted:

I. Data Quality Control Objective

Premier Value Provider, Inc. (PVP) implemented the quality control procedures stipulated in the GCG standards to ensure that the data gathered for the 2022 Customer Satisfaction Survey of the LBP Resources and Development Corporation (LBRDC) is of highest quality possible.

II. Data Quality Control Procedures Implemented

The following quality control procedures stipulated in the GCG standards were implemented by Premier Value Provider, Inc. (PVP) in the conduct of the 2022 Customer Satisfaction Survey of LBRDC.

A. Observation, including Clearing/Debriefing Sessions

PVP carried out the observation during the first day of the survey conduct (November 10, 2022 to January 5, 2023) to check if the questionnaires were accomplished properly and consistently, following the prescribed guidelines given in the training of the enumerators. Further, observation was also undertaken even beyond the initial days of the data collection to continuously ensure consistent, proper accomplishment of the survey questionnaires all throughout.

The clearing/debriefing session was conducted on November 17, where the field data collector raised their concerns and challenges faced during the initial days of the data collection to the entire survey team. As initially expected, the most common problem faced by the interviewers was the reluctance of the customers to be interviewed citing they don't want to be interviewed or that they are not the correct persons to be interviewed. Some numbers were also unreachable therefore PVP had to refer back to LBRDC for updated contact details. Reminders and pointers that were given during the training to the field data collectors were reiterated during the debriefing session.

B. Supervision and Spot Checking

To ensure that the data gathered for the 2022 Customer Satisfaction Survey of LBP Resources and Development Corporation is of highest possible quality, Premier Value Provider, Inc. (PVP) undertook Supervision and Spot Checking, which are GCG-prescribed quality control procedures. Supervision also included the daily fieldwork progress monitoring activities.

As purposed, supervision was undertaken by the field manager to ensure the proper implementation of the survey conduct (i.e., the telephone interviews) whereas spot checking was undertaken by the field supervisors to ensure that the interviewers (i) did proper sampling (ii) implemented proper skipping of items, (iii) interviewers are indeed in the area covered by the study, and (iv) were conducting the interviews correctly.

a. Supervision

Supervision was undertaken by the field manager throughout the conduct of the telephone interviews from November 10, 2022 to January 5, 2023. This was carried out through the support of the field supervisor and group leader who monitored the team throughout the data collection, which allowed for the interviewer to be observed, well above the minimum requirement in the GCG Guidebook on CSS Conduct for 30% of the total sample size to be observed.

Fieldwork Progress Monitoring. Figures on completed survey interviews were tallied daily at the end of the work day by the team leaders and validated against the daily interview targets of the telephone interviewer. Once validated, these figures were forwarded to the field manager along with the accomplished questionnaires.

In turn, the field manager validated the reported numbers of completed survey interviews against the submitted questionnaires and subsequently forwarded these to the Data Processing Team to check the accomplished questionnaires for data completion and transferred these responses onto the tabulated file. Data cleaning to ensure zero errors were also undertaken by the Data Processing team on the tabulation of responses.

b. Spot Checking

Spot checks were prescribed by the GCG Guidebook to ensure that interviewers (a) did proper sampling (b) implemented proper skipping of items, (c) interviewers are indeed in the area covered by the study, and (d) were conducting the interviews correctly.

Spot checks were undertaken by the team leaders and the findings were summarized in the table below:

Areas for Spot Checking	Findings
That the interviewers...
1. implemented proper sampling	No sampling was required because total universe was n=18.
2. implemented proper skipping of items	Proper skipping of items was properly conducted as evidenced by the accomplished questionnaires.
3. are indeed in the area covered by the study	Since data collection was being done through telephone interviews, the areas covered by the study were interviewed remotely. As such, item no. 3 for spot checking is not applicable to this study.
4. are interviewing correctly	The interviewer was correctly administering the survey, following the guidelines and procedures set out during the training.

C. Back-Checking

As proposed, back-checking was undertaken as a validation measure i.e., to ensure that the survey interviews were actually conducted and completed and that all responses provided were properly and accurately recorded.

Respondents were re-contacted on January 5, 2023 by trained personnel who did not participate in the data collection process.

The GCG Guidebook on CSS Conduct noted that a combination of phone and in-person back-checking should be done. However, back-checking was done through telephone calls due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

The back-checkers introduced themselves to the respondents as part of the Premier Value Provider, Inc. (PVP) team and asked if they have received a telephone call from other members of the team to conduct a customer satisfaction survey for the LBP Resources and Development Corporation. The respondents were then asked to verify that the answers they gave as recorded in the survey form were correct.

Back-checking results showed that the phone interviews were indeed conducted and completed correctly and accurately. Moreover, respondents confirmed their responses in the survey, thus ensuring consistency and accuracy of the given responses.

A total of 8 or 44% of the respondents were re-contacted, satisfying the GCG minimum requirement of at least 30% of the total sample size were to be back-checked.

D. Data Processing

1. Field Editing

PVP implemented the process wherein after every data collection day, the telephone interviewer reviewed the accomplished CSS questionnaires to ensure completeness of data. Thereafter, the accomplished CSS questionnaires were submitted to their designated team leader to ensure a final consistency check on all outputs prior to submission to the field manager, who in turn, after review of the same, submitted them to the data processing team.

2. Coding

PVP had included the proper indication of codes during data collection in the CSS questionnaires, allowing for consistency checks, to be undertaken simultaneously during data collection and subsequently during the review of the accomplished questionnaire at every turn. Further, open-ended questions in the questionnaire were coded and code frames were created to facilitate processing of data.

3. Double-Encoding in Data Encoding/Entry

PVP implemented double-encoding on data entry, where completed questionnaires are encoded by two different encoders. After double-encoding the data separately, the two datasets were automatically compared, and discrepancies were verified and corrected accordingly to form a single dataset.

The accomplished questionnaires were encoded using the Microsoft Excel application, had features for data comparison and validation which allowed for automated verification consistency checks on the encoded data.

4. Data Processing

Once the data reached zero errors, data was prepared for table processing. Data tabulation specifications or tabspecs were developed by the statistician, and included the following key details:

- a. List of tables with table titles and base descriptions
- b. Segments to be read in the table banners/headers

- c. Stubs or list of responses
- d. Formatting of the tables
- e. Filter/logic checks

The data table processing involves descriptive statistics and several cross-tabulations, aligned with the data requirements.

All tables, where statistically feasible, were subjected to statistical tests for groups to measure the variance among the existing groups/segments in the sample. Significance testing was done at 95% confidence level, as prescribed in the GCG Guidebook on CSS Conduct.

Data Analysis Procedures

Data analyses were carried out using a combination of statistical and data visualization software (SPSS and Microsoft Power BI). With the very small number of respondents, only descriptive analytics was generated.

There were adaptations in the modes of communication especially because of the pandemic. Delays and adjustment in timelines were inevitable; and considerations were made especially on the side of the clients so it was difficult, but it was handled well.

C. Breakdown of Scores Per Item

- Analysis of breakdown of scores per item indicated that the respondent gave a high rating for all applicable items.

D. Suggestions for Improvement

The respondent indicated that following suggestion:

Continuous improvement on the system. Push for more technological innovations to meet more requirements more efficiently and without errors.

IV. OVERALL CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Overall customer satisfaction rating of 92% for Manpower Outsourcing Customers is very satisfactory but there is much room for improvement. The rating is driven primarily by ratings for Manpower Outsourcing Services (which is a strength area with 100% positive raters) and Information and Communication (92%). Based on the scores, priority areas should be Complaints Handling and Records Keeping (60%), Website (71%), and Facilities (0%).

Recommendation:

- Prioritize concerns regarding Complaints Handling and Records Keeping. In particular, timely resolution was the lowest scoring item. The qualitative comments must also be reviewed and accordingly addressed.
- Website concerns indicated all items as relatively low. Perhaps a review of the website's accessibility, security, reliability, and usefulness of information should be conducted.

2. For Property Management Customers, there were only 1 respondent. The ratings were all high.

Recommendation:

- Look into the qualitative response of the lone respondent. He was suggesting pushing for more technological innovations to improve efficiency.
